MINUTES OF THE ADJOURNED ANNUAL MEETING HELD MAY 26, 1888, AT MR. W. W. HALL'S.

The meeting opened by singing two stanza of the hymn, Blest be the Tie that Binds, followed by a prayer from President S. B. Dole.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and the Secretary was requested to make an addition to them stating that the training of the Seminary girls in the two pieces sung that evening at Kawaiahao Seminary was the last work of Miss Morley, the music teacher whose death we mourn.

The minutes of the Board of Managers were also read and accepted; before taking up the matter of election of officers a song was sung by Miss Dressler, Miss Beckwith accompanying her at the piano.

The election of officers then took place as follows:

For President, Rev. W. B. Oleson.

For Vice-President, Mrs. B. F. Dillingham.

For Recording Secretary, Mr. H. K. Hyde.

For Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. L. B. Coan.

• For Home Corresponding Secretary, Miss Helen Hillebrand.

For Treasurer, Mr. F. J. Lowrey.

And as elective members of the Board, Mrs. A. S. Hartwell and Mr. J. B. Atherton.

A long discussion was held on the wording of the first appropriation for new missionary work among Hawaiians, but finally the following motion made by Dr. Hyde, That we appropriate one thousand dollars for work among Hawaiians, to be paid to the A. B. C. F. M. for disbursement by the co-operative committee, if any persons are commissioned by the A. B. C. F. M. for this new work, was duly seconded and carried. The remaining recommendations were discussed and voted upon.

The following is the list of appropriations :

For work among the Hawaiians to be paid to the A. B. C. F. M., for disbursement by the Co-operative Committee, if any persons are commissioned by the A. B. C. F. M., for this new work.....	$1,000 00

The following persons were elected to serve as Editors for the Maile Wreath for the next four months, Judge S. B. Dole, Mr. Henry Castle, Miss C. Reimer and Miss M. E. Alexander.

For the Historical Committee, for collecting biographies of the missionaries, Prof. Alexander, Mrs. L. B. Coan, and Rev. S. E. Bishop were elected.

A vocal duet was then sung by Mrs. E. C. Damon and Miss Beckwith.

Mr. Merritt said that he, as the chairman of the committee to secure the pledges made for the purchase of a piece of land for the East Maui Female Seminary, wished to say concerning it that the Board of Education had purchased the land, but some of the pledges had been made unconditional and he had collected the money. A motion was made and carried that this money be passed over to Miss Carpenter as a special donation from the Hawaiian Mission Children's Society and that a note be made of it in the Treasurer's report.

The collection amounted to $12.85.

There were only twenty-eight persons present probably, because it was a rainy evening.

The place for the next regular meeting was decided to be Dr. Beckwith's.

The Society adjourned to meet for the adjourned annual meeting on June 9th in the vestry of the Central Union Church.

Respectfully submitted,

WM. J. FORBES, Recording Secretary.

MINUTES OF ADJOURNED ANNUAL MEETING HELD JUNE 9, 1888, IN THE VESTRY OF THE CENTRAL UNION CHURCH.

The meeting was called to order at half-past seven with the President, Rev. W. B. Oleson, in the chair.

The opening exercises consisted of the singing of a hymn and prayer by Rev. T. L. Gulick.

After the approval of the minutes of the last meeting, the yearly report of the Recording Secretary was read, accepted and ordered printed in the annual report of the Society. The Treasurer's report was also accepted subject to the approval of the Auditor. It was moved and seconded that a statement of the special donation to the East Maui Female Seminary be appended in a note to this report. The reports of Corresponding and Home Corresponding Secretaries were also read, approved and ordered printed.

Judge Dole, as retiring President, then delivered an exceedingly interesting address, taking for his subject the "Missionary Fathers and Mothers." The musical entertainment of the evening consisted of a song by Miss Dressler and Miss Beckwith. After short remarks by Rev. T. L. Gulick, the President and other members, the Society adjourned to meet at the residence of Dr. Beckwith. Present 53. Collection $25.35.

Respectfully submitted,

HENRY K. HYDE.

REPORT OF HOME CORRESPONDING SECRETARY.

The reports that come to us this year from the several schools in which we are interested are most satisfactory, and will doubtless encourage us in our efforts to help them.

Rev. A. W. Burt of Hilo Boarding School, reports the prosperity of that institution: "Besides the principal, the teachers for the year, were Hon. H. S. Townsend, Miss C. Hitchcock and Miss E. Lyman. During Mr. T.'s absence in Honolulu, Mrs. Burt conducted his class.

"While the various elementary English branches are taught, the industrial feature of the school is becoming more and more prominent. The industrial hall, built entirely by the boys last year, affords ample room for the daily instruction of 30 boys, in the use of carpenter tools.

"An excellent turbine water-wheel was presented to the school, by Hon. Alex. Young, and also a turning lathe, the gift of the principal.

"The printing department is in successful operation. The musical element of the boys finds abundant expression in the H. B. S. Band and in the rendering of choruses.

"Difficulties resulting from scanty funds, are becoming greater. The American Board has reduced its appropriation, from $1,000 to $600 per annum. There is growing difficulty in collecting board-tax from the boys, and there is little likelihood of Government aid. We have to thank the H. M. C. S. for the steady and efficient aid it has rendered us."

There have been 81 girls at East Maui Seminary this year. "Two were married at Christmas. Four united with the Foreign Church.

"In June last one of the girl's, after much persecution from her relatives, in which she showed herself true to what she thought right, was married to Rev. M. Lutera and left for Micronesia."

Miss Alexander of Kawaihau Seminary, who, this year, leaves the position she has so efficiently held for four years past, submits the following:

"We have enrolled 130 pupils this year. The industrial departments, have made gratifying progress. A number of our girls have become so proficient in sewing that they have earned enough to clothe themselves.

"Three girls have been married here and are living in good homes.

"This year, Sabbath eve, May 13th, our Master called our beloved music teacher, Miss F. G. Morley. So sudden was the going, that we can realize yet, only the dread absence. The girls have shown the deepest feeling. The musical department has had unparalleled success, under Miss Morley's instruction.

"At the beginning of this year, we learned with deep regret, of the resignation of Miss Malone, who had been associate Principal for three years. Miss Brewer resigns at the close of this year. Her loss to the school, as a loving, faithful teacher, cannot be estimated.

"We are indebted to Miss May Green, Miss Wilcox and Miss Hillebrand for efficient aid in teaching morning classes. Owing to the generosity and efficiency of trustees and friends, a part of the building known as Rice Hall was completed last October, and has greatly lightened our work. We hope for the completion of Rice Hall, soon. We are ever mindful of your generous appropriation for support of teachers and pupils."

Mr. F. W. Damon says of Chinese Mission School Work:

"Our schools have been well attended. In the boys school, under the charge of Miss Payson, and Miss Mary Kwai Shin are some forty-five boys. While in the girls school under Miss Green, thirty-five pupils have been enrolled. Miss Green has also a number of pupils whom she visits in their homes.

"It has been found necessary to add another teacher in our Chinese Department, in order to insure continued attendance of all, as the pupils speak two different dialects.

"In addition to our schools in Honolulu, there is an interesting school for Chinese in Wailuku, under the charge of Mrs. Simpson, and another at Kohala, Hawaii.

"There is, however, room for far wider work than has yet been undertaken.

"Not a few Chinese children within town and country come under no school influence whatever."

Mr. Damon desires to acknowledge with gratitude the receipt of the generous appropriation, made by the Cousin's Society to Chinese Mission Work.

Respectfully submitted,

HELEN L. HILLEBRAND,

Home Corresponding Secretary.

CORRESPONDING SECRETARY'S REPORT.

June 1887—June 1888—How brief the twelve months between the dates, how varied their scenes as the year went by! America has had its strikes and storms, England its royal Jubilee, Germany its imperial obsequies, Europe its mobilizing troops, but while we from afar have watched them all, our thoughts and interests have centered largely about our island worlds, Hawaii nei and MICRONESIA.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Treiber, under appointment for Ruk, Miss Dr. Ingersoll for Ponape, the Hawaiian Missionaries, Reverends Paluhi and Lutera, with their wives for the Gilbert Islands, sailed on the Morning Star, July 5th, 1887, for their respective stations.

The Star had been long in our harbor, undergoing many repairs, and waiting the arrival of all she was to convey to her rendezvous. Her hold, decks and cabins were heavily freighted, for much had been ordered, and many comforts had been sent by thoughtful friends. Under the command of Capt. G. F. Garland, a sincere Christian and a warm friend of our Micronesian Mission, she went forth wafted by our prayers. We did not need to wait her return to learn of events in Micronesia. Early in the year, via San Francisco, came the startling intelligence that Mr. Doane had been taken prisoner by the Spaniards and conveyed to Manila, while a dreadful emeute had followed on Ponape. For a time we were left in anxious suspense, a suspense so painful that our joy was all the greater when we heard that not only had Mr. Doane been returned to his home, having experienced much civility and kindness from the Spanish authorities at Manila, but that under a new Governor for the Caroline Islands, the mission work was allowed to go on unhindered. The details of those strange experiences on Ponape have been widely spread through many lands. The conduct and the teachings of our dear band of workers there have been noted even by those of another faith, as in marked contrast to the life and words of Roman Catholic priests; and we cannot but feel that this has been God's way to bring honor to his cause.

By some unlooked for opportunity, we were privileged to hear in good time of the safe arrival of the Morning Star among the Micronesian Islands, of the health of her passengers and of those whom they had gone to join. For this we were very thankful. Later came other news. On the twenty-seventh of December, 1887, our beloved brother, Mr. Logan, had finished his earthly course. Sorrow for those most deeply bereaved, sorrow for the church militant, one of whose bravest, most consecrated heroes had thus fallen, filled our hearts. But for him, entered a conqueror among the heavenly hosts, how could we weep? Ruk is honored to guard his sleeping dust; Heaven is brighter for the entrance there of the glorified spirit.

The Morning Star returned to Honolulu, April 18th, bringing Mrs. Logan, with Arthur and Beulah, thus far upon their way to the States. Tender and loving welcomes were extended to them by their many appreciative friends here, who felt honored in the privilege of helping the stricken sister on her way, and blest by her sweet example of submission to God's will.

Full letters and journals from the several stations, depicted in faithful colors the joys, the trials, the success and disappointments of missionary life. We sympathize with our sisters in Ponape, in that they have had so many fears for their school, surrounded as they were by hostile influences. And we rejoice that they have gone bravely forward, day by day, with their work. Piloted by the pen of Mrs. Walkup we followed her and Miss Smith in their interesting tour among the Gilbert Islands, whither they went with Mr. Walkup, to note the state of the native churches, and to gather more material for the Training and Boarding Schools on Kusaie. Then Mrs. Pease and Miss Crosby both waved their skilful wands and there were set before us the many scenes in which they had mingled, as they voyaged about the Marshall Group with Dr. Pease as leader. These are not pleasure trips. The comforts of their well ordered homes are all the more apparent when they return to them from the noise and unrest and discomforts of uncivilized life, and from the perils of the sea; but they are necessary and useful explorations of the fields, on which they would fain see the gospel banner firmly planted.

New recruits, we hear, are soon to be sent forward to the more western stations. But more are needed. Who will go?

Rev. H. Bingham and wife belong to Micronesia, for their hearts and lives have long been given to the Gilbert Islanders, but impaired health keeps them from the field. Their trip to the Coast last year, did not prove as beneficial as was hoped it might, but it gave an unexpected opportunity to Mrs. Bingham to see once more the widowed mother from whom she had been separated twenty-one years. Since their return to Honolulu, Mr. Bingham, though in great weakness, has pursued his work of translation, and rejoices in having now completed one-half the entire Bible.

OTHER MISSION FIELDS.

In China, in Japan and Spain, we find our cousins of the Gulick family still earnestly at work, their ranks reinforced by members of their tribe. Of Dr. L. H. Gulick, it is said: "Besides increasing Bible work, he edits the Chinese Recorder, is business manager of the new medical Missionary Journal, and acting pastor of the Union Church, preaching once each Sabbath. Mrs. Gulick does much of the pastoral work."

From Kumamoto, we must, at no distant day, hear glad tidings of progress for Japan, since there are gathered at that station Rev. O. H. Gulick and wife, Miss Julia Gulick, Sidney L. Gulick and wife, Mrs. Hattie Gulick Clark and husband, a force representing great abilities, culture and consecration. Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Gulick have moved to Osaka. Rev. John T. and wife, needing rest, have gone to America via Europe. We will hope they have thus had the pleasure of meeting the brother who has so long and faithfully labored in Spain. We thank cousin Wm. Gulick for his kindly "greetings from under the shadow of the Pyrenees" and for fidelity to the Society, shown by his care in sending us his copied MS. on Spanish affairs in Ponape. These valuable articles have been published in The Independent and The Congregationalist. In his report to the A. B. C. F. M. which he sends us in pamphlet form, we note that the boarding and day school, under the charge of Mr. and Mrs. Gulick, had had for the year one hundred and seventeen pupils, fourteen of whom were church members. "The quiet methods, the strict discipline of the school, the manifest improvement of the girls have revolutionized public opinion regarding it. * * * Through the entire year a large part of the girls have voluntarily abstained from one plate of their customary plain food, the value of which has been handed them in cash, which they have contributed on every Sabbath to the church fund for the maintenance of worship."

The report is too interesting not to be read in full by us all.

GENERAL CORRESPONDENCE.

Among the earliest responses to the pledge cards was a generous remittance from our constant friend, Col. C. S. Stewart. Of his present home, Coopers-town, N. Y., he says: "The village with its environs is lovely indeed. Some of my earliest associations are connected with it. Both parents and my maternal grandmother died here in the same house; a sister, the youngest, was born in the village, and all now rest in its cemetery."

Once more we hear from the venerable William Hyde, now in his eighty-second year. His letter enclosed a check for one hundred dollars from himself and Miss Sage for support of girls at Kawaihau and Makawao. He expresses hope that a great advance may be made in the change of our government.

Under date of August 25, 1887, Miss Lucy Andrews writes from Gambier, Ohio: "I have never ceased to thank my good father for making me an organic member of a body to which I am proud to belong. A life membership holds on through the light and shades of life." And we, in turn, are proud to count among our number this earnest and successful worker in higher education. Miss Andrews was called from a professorship at Wellesley to the presidency of Harcourt Place. "The objects of the school," she states, "are vigorous health, sound learning, good taste and Christian character."

In a brief note from Peacedale, R. I., Rev. O. P. Emerson alludes thus to his having been in England: "I first heard of the 'Revolution' from the lips of our cousin, Mrs. Dillingham, whom I chanced to meet on my vacation in Westminster Abbey, where we had gone to hear Canon Farrar preach. It was a pleasant surprise for me, and a glad day of news." We feel defrauded of our privileges in that Mr. Emerson has given us no further account of his experiences abroad.

Miss Cathcart, unable to return to Micronesia, finds true missionary work among the Blue Mountain Foot Hills of North Carolina. As to congenial society the place is almost as desolate as some of the isles of the sea. "Were it not for a semi-weekly mail, she writes, 'it would be more lonely than Micronesia. But the work is a noble one, The school is for the educating of worthy white girls who have not the means to obtain an education elsewhere.'"

We are glad to report communication established with Mrs. Emily (Whitney) McCall, who says of herself: "Though I have been a silent member for the most part, so many years, I have considered it a great pleasure to feel that I am one of your number. My life is such a busy one, my time so constantly occupied in household, parish or missionary work, that I find very little time for correspondence. I cannot tell you how much I would love to meet with you and know each member of the Society. Though so many years have passed since I left my native land, I love it still. Memory often brings back the days when with my brothers, I played under the kou trees, and they crowned me with wreaths of flowers. We always have room in our hearts and home to receive the cousins when they are in this country."

An earnest assurance comes from Miss Norton that her interest in our affairs does not abate one iota by time or distance. She eagerly reads all newspaper items concerning the islands, "hoping for discernment to separate the true from the false." She rejoices in the liberal donations for Kawaiahao Seminary, and adds: "To work for something that is to live is far more comforting than to work for a dying cause, and we, who have given some of our best time and our hearts blood for it, know what the foundations cost."

A few lines from Miss Pierpont report her still teaching at San Juan, that old Spanish town of California, near which "the first American flag of conquest was unfurled on St. John's peak by General Fremont." Her two sisters, Mrs. Drum and Mrs. Cowperthwaite, are active members of Presbyterian Churches, and interested in missionary work. Miss Pierpont is President of the Board of Education for San Benito County.

Full of pleasantry and sound thought is our annual letter from General Armstrong. It is difficult to make brief quotations when we would like to give the letter entire. He writes: "I have an increasing craving to get away off to and again breathe the air of Hawaii. The pressure of this work is severe, and has made me gray before my time. This is serious; almost half a hundred years old! An old man already—a boy only yesterday. Time rushes on as he never did before, and has no mercy on us. * * * The Revolution has interested the whole world and it seems to be a success. I think the troublous times are likely to improve and develop life with you; a sense of danger and of responsibility is a great educator. Do the cousins consider the question of varied industries for the islands? This point will bear some hard thinking and is worthy of your attention and of a special committee.

Good luck to Punahou : I would salute it and Rocky Hill and Round Top if I could. Is the old pond existing? I have good hopes of the College under President Merritt. Please give the cousins all, my aloha, and if I could, I would drink to the health of them all from a fresh cocoanut."

The "old pond" dear to memory, no longer exists, but there is a new pond dear to the bathers who enjoy it. This stands in the rear of the main College building, thirty-two by forty-five feet, with strong cemented sides and bottom, having a depth of from five to seven and a half feet. Water from the spring has constant ingress and exit. Cousin T. L. Gulick devised the blessing, and Cousin H. P. Baldwin, aided by friends, assumed the financial responsibilities. The cost was about fifteen hundred dollars.

ITEMS.

Our wonderful revolution has made this the most marked historic year of the Hawaiian Kingdom since our Society was organized. Some of our own H. M. C. S. were among the framers of the new Constitution, and in the new order of things the number of cousins already in honorable stations of Governmental trust has been much increased. His Excellency L. A. Thurston, is Minister of the Interior, Hon. S. B. Dole has been enrolled among members of the Supreme Bench, eight cousins are in the Boards of Health and Education, while in Privy Council of State, in House of Nobles and in Representative Hall we find a full score of our members.

The Friend, the oldest paper in the Pacific, is in the able hands of Rev. S. E. Bishop, its editor in chief. The Pacific Advertiser and also the Weekly Hawaiian Gazette are edited by Henry Castle, while Hon. H. M. Whitney is business manager of both.

Our joy last summer in having Dr. Beckwith with us as temporary supply for the pulpit of Fort-St.

Church was heightened by the greater blessing which soon followed. After the union of the two churches, Fort-St. and Bethel, under the name of the Central Union Church, Dr. Beckwith was installed as our own beloved pastor. This brings to us, also, the presence of his gentle wife and daughter.

The benevolent societies connected with this church draw largely upon the cousinhood for members and for contributions. It is cause of true gratulation that here in Honolulu alone, the cousins are leading and active factors in the Sailor's Home Society, the Board of Hawaiian Evangelical Association, the W. B. M. P. I., the Missionary Gleaners, the W. C. T. U., the Y. M. C. A. and the Stranger's Friend Society. It would be interesting to know in how many other Christian organizations we are represented over the world, and what the sum total of our benefactions. Your Secretary having seen it stated in The Advance of June 2, 1887, that "This Society has raised about $2,000 for missions to Micronesia," has been led to investigate the figures of the past thirty-six years. She finds that out of the $42,000 which we have raised, $12,516 have been expended for the missions in Micronesia and Marquesas, while nearly $11,000 have been paid to our several Boarding Schools for the support therein of the children of Hawaiian missionaries and pastors.

We have for the past two years been thoroughly in earnest to do much for the revival of missionary work on our own shores. Correspondence by an efficient committee has been held with the A. B. C. F. M., and valuable discussions concerning men and means have filled many moments of our meetings. We still wait the fulfillment of our hopes.

Our traveler's list this year does not fall below that of 1887, but happily for us the journeys have been mostly in the way of return rather than of departure.

Mrs. Helen Judd Farley after several years of absence has visited her kindred here, bringing with her her two bonnie little girls.

Detroit has lent us, for a season, one of her most popular physicians, and President of her Board of Health, Dr. George P. Andrews. His enthusiasm in revisiting the scenes of his boyhood, after an absence of forty years, has been a matter of delight to the cousins. We hope it may result in his coming, hereafter, for permanent sojourn.

Sprightly papers from Mrs. Dillingham, giving rich information concerning what she saw in England, have appeared in the Weekly Gazette. Miss Chamberlain met many cousins in the States during her long visit, and made us almost feel we had seen them too, when she told us of pleasant interviews with them. She has entered with great devotion into city missionary work under the auspices of the Central Union Church. Cousin Frances Johnson is in work of the same character, faithfully teaching Scandenavian and other children. Helen Castle comes back to us after years of study in Germany, greatly enriched with gifts of culture, and Henry Castle, a graduate of Oberlin and of Harvard, adds his lawyer lore to that of many cousins who thus serve the public. The beautiful residence upon the heights of Nuuanu has received back its former owner, and we rejoice in the presence among us of Judge Hartwell and family. We congratulate the homes where hearts have been gladdened by the return of Mrs. Hyde and Mr. Henry Hyde, Mrs. S. E. Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Damon, Mrs. S. G. Wilder, Miss Bruns, Miss Carter, Mrs. Sarah Thurston, Miss Hillebrand, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Wilcox, Charles H. Atherton and bride, Mr. and Mrs. George Castle, Mrs. E. Damon, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Williams. Our sympathies we extend to other homes where pain and weakness have long brooded with leaden wing. Rev. A. O. Forbes has struggled for months under the double burden of disease and heavy responsibilities. We trust great gain may come to him from his trip to the States. He is accompanied by his lovely daughter, Hattie, and will soon be followed by Mrs. Forbes. Hattie will see the world beyond this little kingdom for the first time, and to Mrs. Forbes it must seem a new world indeed, so great the changes in the thirty years since she left it for her island home. We greatly regret the permanent removal of Dr. Kittredge's family and of the Lewises from Hilo, and of genial Dr. Martin from Honolulu.

Here we must record our gratitude that two serious accidents during the year were not fatal to the fathers, Dr. Lowell Smith and Mr. Dimond. Dr. Smith had just left his carriage when the horse started from fright, and in some unaccountable way he was thrown down and the carriage drawn over him. The wonder that he escaped alive was all the greater from the fact of his being alone at the time. His injuries were severe. Mr. Dimond fell from his horse receiving such a shock from the fall that he was long seriously ill. Both have been graciously restored to comfortable health.

MARRIAGES.

There should have appeared in last year's report the record of the marriage of Miss Lucy T. Wetmore in Hilo, Dec. 1, 1886, to Mr. Charles Lewis.

At Niagara Falls, June, 1887, Miss Lydia Hemingway to Mr. T. L. Morehouse.

In Oberlin, O., July, 1887, Harriet M. Gulick to Rev. Cyrus Clark.

In Ann Arbor, Mich., Aug. 6, 1887, Mrs. C. B. Andrews to Mr. B. B. Bowman.

In Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 18, 1887, John S. Bishop, M. D., to Miss Alice Moore.

In Hanover, N. H., Aug. 30, 1887, Luther H. Gulick, Jr., to Miss Lottie Vetter.

In New London, Ct., Sept. 13, 1887, Rev. Sidney L. Gulick to Miss Cara M. Fisher.

At Mills Seminary, California, Nov. 7, 1887, Gerrett P. Wilder to Miss Lilian Kimball.

In Honolulu, Nov. 9, 1887, Miss Julia Judd to Mr. F. M. Swanzy.

In Oberlin, O., Dec. 24, 1887, Charles H. Atherton to Miss Minnie Merriman.

In Honolulu, April 5, 1888, Mrs. Julia E. Hanford to Prof L. L. Van Slyke.

The marriage was at the residence of Judge L. McCully. The exquisite floral decorations, the beautiful ceremony, the cheer of host and hostess, the marked enjoyment of the many guests, and the happy content of bride and bridegroom made this a most delightful and memorable occasion.

In Ann Arbor, Mich., April 11, 1888, Charles L. Carter to Miss Mary H. Scott.

In Haiku, Maui, at the residence of Hon. H. P. Baldwin, May 21, 1888, Lorrin A. Andrews to Miss Alice Newell.

BIRTHS.

Born in Honolulu, July 19, 1887, to Mrs. J. T. Waterhouse, Jr. a daughter.

In Honolulu, Aug. 9, 1887, to Mrs. F. W. Damon a daughter. This little one is the third generation of missionary parentage on the mother's side.

DEATHS.

A beautiful, blue eyed child was little Alice Gordon Gulick. Often the passing stranger on the streets of San Sabastian, stopped to kiss the winsome lassie, and to her friends she was very dear. Heaven lent this precious gift to earth seven summers, then on July 28, 1887, recalled the child for more perfect development in the celestial life. Her rare talent for music will have blest employ amid

" Those Halls of Syon Conjubilant with Song."

* Of the deaths of Seymour H. Dibble and his only son, we have almost no particulars, only that the going of the latter was very sudden. So too, was the passing away of Lily Benfield in Berkley, California.

While the brig Thadeus was on her way hither with the pioneer missionaries, in 1819, there was born in Granville, Ohio, one who was to be a pioneer to islands further west, Rev. Albert A. Sturges. Thirty-three years of his vigorous life he gave to the heathen, and heathen converts of Ponape, working for them with a love that never failed and a zeal that knew no remitting. When stricken down by paralysis in 1885, he left his post and returned to the States, where a kind providence allowed the regathering of the sometime scattered family of Mr. Sturges. On Sabbath morning, September 4, this dear missionary fell asleep to enter heaven. Mrs. Sturges writes: "Our grief for our loss is swallowed up in rejoicing for his infinite gain. He was always so cheerful and pleasant, none but us knew how sorely he felt his limitations. Now freedom and health, and joy are his forever."

In Boston, September 17, 1887, at the Home for Aged Men, Dexter H. Chamberlain, aged 80. He was a son of Daniel Chamberlain, one of the pioneer missionaries.

Entered into rest at Koloa, Kauai, November 30, 1887, Rev. J. W. Smith, M. D. Those of us who heard his reminiscencies at our last year's Jubilee concerning the Father's gracious leadings, will not forget the cheerful faith with which he testified of those leadings that they had ever been "all right." Could he speak to us now from the heavenly hills, would he not exultingly exclaim that the time of his departure for the further shore was "all right." We needed him here. His counsels were wise, his presence helpful; our missionary force so small, how could we spare him! But to him it was better far to depart and be with Christ, than to tarry longer in the fairest garden isle of earth.

At Kawaiahao Seminary, May 13, 1888, Fanny Gertrude Morley passed from earthly scenes to the presence of the Lord. She came among us only two years ago, but her genial ways, her cordial bearing, broke down at once, the reserve of non-acquaintance. We loved her from the first, and rejoiced for the school that one so gifted and with voice so consecrated to the Master's service, had been given to its valued corps of teachers. One of her very latest kindly offices for others was her sweet guidance of the chorus of song at our April meeting. Even then the angelic convoy hovered near, waiting to bear the pure spirit to its home above. While we mourn her loss, we rejoice for her that she has entered "The light that hath no evening;

The health that hath no sore,
The life that hath no ending
But lasteth evermore."

At Onomea, June 2, 1888, David Whitney Goodale, aged two months and eighteen days. "And Jesus called a little child unto him and set him in the midst of them—of whom is the kingdom of heaven."

We cannot close these records without mention of that beloved mother in Israel, Mrs. Eliza Hill Anderson, whose pilgrimage of four score years and four ended on March 11, 1888. Her pastor says - "Her glow of kind thoughts and active beneficence was un-failing from eight to eighty." Many of the cousins for a long series of years have been held in her loving regard, and have been the recipients of her beneficence. The memory of her meek and quiet spirit, her faithful devotion to the kingdom and patience of our Lord, her steadfast confidence in the consolation of the Gospel that "them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with him," should be to us a precious legacy, and help us on our pilgrim way.

For these our dead

"No tears should fall, for this is only dying
To weary days and wakeful, feverish nights,
Only from mortal disappointments flying,
From hopes deferred and incomplete delights.

Only the sleep which means a blissful waking,
Earth's truest, sweetest joy intensified,
Night's fleeing dreams, the morning overtaking,
Life vitalized and wholly glorified.

Triumphant reaping for the faithful sowing,
Faith lost in sight, where come no dimming tears,
For rills of peace, the river overflowing,
God's presence through the blest, eternal years."

Respectfully submitted,

LYDIA BINGHAM COAN.

The morning following the reading of this report at our annual meeting, many loving hearts were crushed with the startling intelligence of the death of Mrs. Julia (Beckwith) Walsh. She had been with her husband and her sister, Mrs. E. C. Damon, on a delightful excursion among kindred and friends in the Eastern States. Coming with them on the homeward route, as far as San Francisco she remained there under medical treatment in hope of speedy re-establishment of health, and a joyful return to her island home. But the better home was ready for her and with sudden summons, on the first of June, the Master called her to its glad welcome.

CORRESPONDENCE.

KUSAIE, Jan. 18, 1888.

My dear Cousins: Again we most gratefully acknowledge the receipt of your annual donation to our Training School. We appreciate this favor all the more, knowing as we do how great is the work you have to do in your own islands, and how many and urgent are the calls on you for help.

May this work which you do for a foreign field have such a reflex influence that it shall aid you in your home work. For this I believe is the true theory of Foreign Missions.

Our evangelical work in the Marshall group is just now nearly stationary. We lost a strong man last year. Our force in the field is small and weak, humanly speaking.

Mejuro, Arno, Ujai, Namo, Kwajelim are all begging for teachers. We do all we can in our school to supply this want. But somehow we can't catch up. The devil manages to trip many of our most promising scholars. We can only hope that a certain percentage of them will hold out true and faithful. Did you ever have any such trouble in Hawaii? The failure of some of our best, strongest, most beloved men is what breaks our hearts sometimes. But for the thought that it is the Lord's work rather than ours, and that He knows and cares, we should become discouraged and ask leave to go home—should have done so long ago. But God is faithful.

We have now thirteen men in the field. In our school we have eighteen young men and five women. It will take a great deal of praying as well as work and watching to get all these through safely.

You will have to help us in this as well as with money. Won't you?

Pray for us at any rate, whatever you do about the other matter.

With a multitude of good wishes and a most hearty "Yokwe kom otemjej,"

I beg to remain, as ever,

Faithfully yours,

E. M. PEASE.

MWOT, KUSAIE, C. Is., Jan. 19, 1888.

Dear Cousins: I have read the report of your "Jubilee Celebration" with very great interest and, perhaps, enjoyed it more than I should have done a sea-voyage in order to attend the meeting in person. We are home again from the Marshall Island trip and find home a very pleasant place. We found much to be thankful for, and some things to sadden our hearts, but we will try to do with our might what our hands are able to do and God will take care of results.

The Girls' school is to do much for the advancement of our work, but more teachers are needed. We saw many bright girls that ought to be in school, but we had to steel our hearts, and say we could not take them.

We are interested in the good work you are all doing for Hawaii and the world. It seems as though good done in any corner, helps the rest of the world sooner or later.

Ned and Frank are growing tall very fast—are first class sailors, and as full of life and play as boys need be. When the Star is gone they will settle down to regular hours for study. Letters from any of the cousins would be greatly enjoyed by them, and would, I think, be answered.

We try not to get rusty by keeping up regular times for reading together, united Bible study, missionary meetings, &c.

We confess that we look forward with pleasant anticipation of the mail that may be on its way from Honolulu to Jaluit.

Before going to the Marshall Islands, we read with deep interest Drummond's "Natural Law in the Spiritual World." Some of its pages made our hearts sink within us, others were exhilarating.

We realize more and more as the years go by, how utterly vain is all our work without the life giving power of the Holy Spirit, so you see there is need of much prayer in our behalf, and for the natives, some of whom have not yet comprehended who their Creator is.

We were interested to learn that a chief at Woiyai had been to Ailinglaplap, learned what the gospel is, became a Christian, and united with the church where Andrew is pastor, and now he has returned to his island to tell his people of the "new way." On the island of Lae is a chief woman who has become a Christian. On Namo the people have built a church and wait for instructions. Books are being scattered about on the islands where as yet there are no teachers.

We hope some of the two thousand who have consecrated themselves to foreign mission work are getting ready to come to us.

With a warm Yokwe kom from each of us to all the cousin family, I remain

Very sincerely yours,

HATTIE A. PEASE.

ADDRESS OF THE RETIRING PRESIDENT,
HON. S. B. DOLE.

Amid the pressing demands of civilized life with its ever increasing complications, there is a natural tendency—almost a necessity, with individuals and communities, to forget the persons and events of the past. The ancients, living their more simple lives, without a news-literature and confined for the most part to the consideration of local interests, found time to live over in imagination the lives of their mighty dead, and by a natural process of mental evolution, to credit them in a generation or two with divine or supernatural attributes. We, on the other hand, when we give our attention to past actors in bygone events, cast aside the kindly glamour with which time has glorified their memories, and by unrelenting analysis of character and strict siftings of testimony, we deal with them and happy are those whose memories may survive such scrutiny and receive the favorable verdict of posterity.

The prosperous era of Hawaiian affairs, dating from the adoption of the reciprocity treaty with the United States, and the political history of the past few years and particularly of the last twelve months have so engrossed our attention and occupied our activities that the thought of the missionary fathers and mothers, whose influence so largely contributed to the permanence of civil institutions in these islands, is well nigh crowded from our minds.

Their work is almost done and few of them are left to hear the praise or the blame of the new generation, in whose hands are the present and future interests of our little commonwealth. We see them, with feeble steps amid the scenes of their labors and triumphs, still giving gladly their faltering strength to the work of their lives. One by one they fall in the harness and soon shall we know them no more but by their works and their memories.

It is difficult for us of this generation to realize the political, social and religious changes which the thirty-five years from the death of Kamehameha I., to the reign of Kamehameha IV., witnessed in these islands.

The work of centuries was seemingly accomplished in the limits of a single generation. An idoltrattous and cruel superstition had given place to Christianity, despotism to organized representative government, ignorance to the universal acquirement of ability in reading and writing. Much of this progress, it may be conceded, was superficial, yet with all reasonable allowances of its defects, it is still wonderful enough for all our enthusiam.

To-day the Hawaiian, with his hereditary obstacles and his moderate opportunities, may be fairly received as rightfully belonging to civilization. He reads and writes, he publishes newspapers and reads them, he votes and performs official duties, he is honorably represented in the mechanic arts and in some of the learned professions; in his homes all over the land, in the valleys and on the mountain sides and in the towns, are found here and there a pure family life and a christian atmosphere which are the hope of the nation; he has furnished noble christian missionaries to communities less advanced than his own. He is industrious to an extent that gave to the Hawaiian Islands before the material advent of foreign laborers, an export list per head of the population far larger than that of any other civilized country, while for business ability and regular habits he stands easily ahead of all other Polynesian aborigines.

But, it will be asked, you surely do not credit the missionaries with all of this wonderful progress? No I do not, but their share in it, even after it may have been fixed in its proper relations by the most impartial judgment of history is sufficient for our most enthusiastic study.

The Pilgrim fathers, moved by the desire for religious freedom, crossed the Atlantic Ocean and founded a new community in an inhospitable wilderness. Their enterprise has been glorified in song and story, and mankind will never cease to be grateful to them for the decision and courage which gave to the world a new and essential principle of government. But our missionary fathers and mothers sailed half around the globe upon a voyage involving hardship and discomfort and sometimes extending over a period of half a year to lose themselves, as it were, in the depths of a pagan nation, that that nation might be saved to civilization through the influence of the Bible and christian teaching; they severed themselves from the dear home associations, not to found a new community of their own people, but to build up a christian community in a heathen land and with the heathen material.

The first advance in this undertaking was made by a little over a dozen men and women. May we not eulogize the self-sacrifice, the sublime faith and heroic courage with which this little company of pioneers—this forlorn hope of a great enterprise, sailed away into the almost unknown western seas to the conquest of a heathen nation for God, to an attack upon an idolatrous system fortified by generations of growth and allied to a vigorous military despotism. With the Bible in their hands, and a divine love in their hearts they began their work. We still read with enthusiasm of the red-cross knights of the olden times, who marched with thousands of their fellow mail-clad warriors, moved by one impulse, and amid the clashing of spears offered their lives for the redemption of the holy sepulchre of their risen Lord, but this handful of men and women, without the support and sympathy of a host of fellow-workers went into unknown dangers, exiled themselves from country and home with no hope of a triumphant return to meet the plaudits of men, giving up all earthly considerations that they might lead human souls up to the higher life. Their faith was stimulated at the outset by the auspicious downfall of the system of idolatry and kapu which preceded their arrival, and their courage was renewed from time to time by opportune reinforcements. Harmony and enthusiasm prevailed. By a generous devotion to the material as well as the spiritual needs of all within their reach and a wise consideration for existing authority they won the confidence of chiefs and people, and led the way to the acquirement of that influence which became such an important factor in the political development of the country.

Years rolled by full of hard work, full of danger and self-denial; gradually and surely these soldiers of the cross took possession of the land for Christ; the aboriginal language was reduced to writing, the printing-press was set up and the Bible published in the vernacular, churches were built and schools were established all over the land; the conch shell whose familiar sound had formerly called the people to battle, now led them to places of worship and study. Not only did they persistently attack the vices of heathenism, but they confronted the worse vices of civilization and in this conflict they met their greatest dangers; their persons were attacked and their houses outraged by mobs of foreigners, in some cases with the more than tacit support of foreign ships of war, because of their recognized influence against those immoral indulgences which maritime nations had almost come to regard as the vested right of their seagoing subjects. Step by step and with unflagging toil did they push their grand enterprise, some, almost lost and unheard of in out of the way places, until their presence and their testimony in the annual general meetings reminded the brethren of their fidelity and success, and others, at the capital in daily intercourse with the chiefs where their influence prepared the way for desirable political changes.

In 1837 the great religious revival occurred, which substantially placed the Hawaiians in the category of Christian peoples. This interesting movement swept over the land in a way unaccountable to the average scientist; with all of the philosophical explanations of it of which may be accepted upon the theories of an emotional wave, the contagiousness of human sympathy or the unbounded influence of the chiefs, it still was something more than all of these and was to the missionary crusaders in the crisis of the conflict, with the dust of battle on their faces and its exhaustion already stealing over their frames, a glorious triumph; it was success—the vindication of their seventeen years of struggle. Henceforward their work was to wisely realize the fruits of the victory, to secure its advantages in all possible directions. As one of these beneficent realizations, the organization of the government as an authority distinct from the will of the sovereign, and representing king, chiefs and people, followed with rapid development, leading up in a few short years to a representative constitutional government, the institution of independent courts of justice, of a comprehensive school system and to the wonderful and equitable distribution of the lands of the kingdom, a great and peaceful revolution accomplished by moral forces alone, moral forces wielded by the missionaries and those few faithful friends who fell into line with them in the more secular branches of their work.

In this brief review of work of the American Missionaries in these islands, I have endeavored to be historically accurate and impartial, knowing that my intimate relation with them would both lead me to favor them and possibly would cause those whose views on the subject differ from mine, to suspect me of partizanship.

I am aware that the missionaries are freely and unfavorably criticised and some of their methods unsparingly condemned; nor do I, nor can they object to this, so long as the criticism is just. I am also aware that they are prejudged and cursed. This is exceedingly common at the present day and prevails mainly among new comers and transient visitors and those who know little or nothing of the persons and things they presume to judge. This has always been the case since the first formation of the mission; no class in these islands has been more traduced as a class than these missionaries; and I may be allowed to add that probably there never has been a class of persons in these islands better able to stand detraction and misconstruction than they. It has not and cannot hurt them. Their work is their answer to all such attacks; churches, schools, christian homes, men and women humbly striving to lead the higher life, a stable government which has kept the country independent, and has made life and property secure, and profitable enterprises possible,—these are their monuments. It is noticeable and significant that with time and opportunity of seeing and knowing for himself, the opponent generally becomes the supporter and friend.

I do not desire that this paper shall be a shield to ward off attacks or a cloak to conceal defects; these men and women need no apologist. I have endeavored to inform myself from all available sources as to their doings which have been unfavorably criticised. In regard to the early opposition of the Hawaiian authorities to the introduction of the Roman Catholic religion and the banishment of its priests, there is no question but that the missionary approved of the action of the chiefs and with their great influence may be justly said to have controlled the policy of the kingdom in that particular. If this action was wrong under the circumstances, then I do not hesitate to say that they, the missionaries, must take the burden of it; but was this policy wrong under the circumstances? If it were a question merely of religious toleration and rivalry, there could be but one answer; but as it very evidently included matters of national policy the solution is more difficult, and I do not profess to have yet arrived at it.

The religious persecutions which took place on the Island of Oahu against the first Roman Catholic converts have been made the text of free denunciations of the American Missionaries and their methods. Upon this subject I have made diligent investigations both from contemporary eye witnesses and historical records from authorities both favorable and unfavorable to the missionaries, and feel upon this matter they are in no ways implicated, but on the other hand there is considerable testimony of their protest against and direct interference with the action of the chiefs in these persecutions.

The missionaries are charged with accumulating wealth; and it did come about that lands given by the chiefs to the mission with a generosity which recognized the benefits the nation had received at their hands and which lands were afterwards distributed among some of the missionary families, became in later years of great value and enriched their owners; and it is true that some of the missionaries upon reasonable grounds left the mission and engaged in secular pursuits, and were prospered; this is all true and let us rejoice that we have these illustrations of the Master's words that every one that hath left houses or brethren or sisters or father or mother or children or lands, for His name sake, shall receive a hundred fold.

I do not deny, however, that mistakes were made, mistakes of policy and of judgment and historical accuracy demands that they should be credited with their mistakes as well as with their actions of unquestioned merit. Give them the benefit of both and let the verdict be without prejudice as the final judgment of history always is.

It is touching to read the narratives of the old days of the mission and particularly the accounts of the hardships and difficulties which confronted the women in the management of domestic matters and in their participation in active missionary work, for not only did they keep house and train servants and teach their children and cook and sew and wash and mend and darn, but they conducted schools, led prayer-meetings, taught sewing classes and music classes, visited the sick, comforted the dying, entertained strangers, as well as giving help and sympathy and cheer to their husbands in countless ways. In all this, the material means at their disposal were meagre; the salaries were small and imported provisions usually stale and inferior; the houses they lived in at first, were uncomfortable and inadequate, but with cheerfulness and courage and constancy, they made their homes and reared their families, keeping always the flame of a pure family affection brightly burning in the atmosphere of a divine love and faith and so held out to the Hawaiian community the persuasive object lesson of christian homes.

It falls especially to the Hawaiian Mission Childrens' Society to cherish and keep green these heroic and tender memories of the missionary fathers and mothers. The grateful homage of the nation is due them; but it is our privilege to claim their story and their work as our inheritance, and it is for us to take up and prosecute this heritage of work in their spirit of consecration.

The great majority of them have passed away; their graves hallow the land which their lives so signally blessed; their influence lives after them to inspire and mould the national progress of their adopted land, and will never die, as their work will never cease to be remembered.

SEC. 5. The Treasurer shall receive and safely keep all moneys belonging to the Society; pay over such moneys as may be directed from time to time by the Board of Managers, for the purpose of defraying such expenses as shall have been incurred by their order, such order having the signature of the Recording Secretary; shall countersign all certificates of membership; and shall, at the Annual Meeting of the Society, present an accurate statement of the receipts and disbursements of the Society during the year.

ARTICLE II.—OF THE BOARD OF MANAGERS.

SEC. 1. It shall be the duty of the Board of Managers to superintend all business transactions of the Society not otherwise provided for in the Constitution, and to keep full and correct minutes of all its own proceedings.

SEC. 2. Any member of the Society desiring to bring any business before the Board of Managers, shall make known such business in a written application to some member of the Board, who shall lay it before the Board for their action thereon.

SEC. 3. The Board shall decide upon all applications for membership under Article 7 and 10 of the Constitution; and also upon the disposition of the funds of the Society.

SEC. 4. The minutes of the Board shall be read before the Society at each regular meeting for acceptance and adoption.

SEC. 5. Any vacancies occurring in the Board of Managers, by death or otherwise, shall be re-filled by regular election of the Society at the earliest succeeding meeting.

SEC. 6. The regular meetings of the Board shall be held at such time as the Board may determine, within seven days immediately preceeding the regular meeting of the Society. The Secretary of the Board shall note the members present at each meeting.

SEC. 7. Special meetings of the Board may be called by the President at his discretion, or by three members thereof.

SEC. 8. A majority of the members resident in Honolulu shall constitute a working quorum of the Board.

ARTICLE III.

The members of the Society are expected to attend the regular meetings of the Society, as far as may be possible; to perform all such duties as may, from time to time, be assigned to them; to collect all information that may be useful or interesting to the Society, and at each regular meeting contribute to the funds of the Society, according to their generosity and means.

ARTICLE IV.

The regular monthly meetings of the Society shall be opened by prayer and singing; the minutes of the last meeting shall be read by the Recording Secretary; the minutes of the Board of Managers shall then be read and acted upon; a collection shall be taken up by the Treasurer; the entertainment provided for in Article 5 shall then be in order; next shall follow miscellaneous business; after which the meeting shall be closed by singing.

The monthly meetings of the Society shall be open to such guests as any of the members may invite as being in sympathy with the Society and its objects.

ARTICLE V.

There shall be a Committee of three on music, who shall be chosen quarterly, to aid in providing for the profitable entertainment of each monthly meeting.

There shall be a Committee of four, consisting of two ladies and two gentlemen, to be elected every four months, to conduct a monthly paper, the purpose of which shall be to develop more fully the intellectual resources of the Society, and add to the Missionary interest of each monthly meeting.

There shall be a Committee of two, to be appointed annually, whose duty it shall be to take the Maile Wreaths, after they are read, and attend to their circulation over the Islands, and subsequently to binding them in proper form, and be responsible for their safe keeping.

ARTICLE VI.—RULES OF ORDER.

SEC. 1. In miscellaneous business, no one shall speak more than five minutes at a time, without permission from the Society.

SEC. 2. In all other points of order, the presiding officer shall be guided by the rules laid down in Cushing's Manual.

ARTICLE VII.

These By-Laws may be altered or annulled by a vote of two-thirds of the members present at any regular meeting, notice of each amendment having been given at the meeting next preceding.
